FOR PRESIDENT,
GEORGE B. MCLELLAN,
OF NEW JERSEY.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT,
GEORGE H. PENDLETON, OF OHIO.

Gen. McClellan's Letter of Acceptance.

The reader will find Gen. McClellan's letter of acceptance of the nomination in another column of to-day's paper. We are not alone in our disappointments, for the views he has chosen to express in this letter, as two thirds of the Convention by which he was nominated, and the whole body of the peace party throughout the land, must regret that he has not bravely and boldly placed himself squarely upon the platform adopted by the Convention. He wholly ignores the declaration made by the unanimous vote of the representatives of the party, by whom he was nominated: that four years of war had proved a failure, that a cessation of hostilities and a convention of the States, or some other peaceful means, were necessary to end our national troubles; but avows himself in favor of a vigorous continuation of the bloody slaughter of our countrymen. He says he cannot look his brave comrades in arms in the face, and say, what the Convention with no dissenting voice said: that their sacrifices had been in vain; or, in other words that the war has proved a failure. The whole world knows that it has been a failure, and will continue to be a failure, so long as it is waged for the purpose of compelling a reluctant people into a government which they not only declare, but show by their actions, they despise. If they are to be won back into the brotherhood of the Union, it must be by the instrumentality of statesmanship, or by the agency of peaceful negotiations.

Nevertheless, the position of Gen. McClellan promises some good, if not all this in our sanguine hopes we could have wished. He promises to conduct the war upon principles of humanity, and with some regard to the civilization of the age. He will respect the Constitution and laws, and under his administration, the rights of the States, the rights and liberties of the people, the freedom of speech and of the press, will be respected and protected. There will be no declaration of military law, and suspension of the sacred writ of liberty, the habeas corpus, where no insurrection exists; no military interference with elections, or subjection of the civil authority to military power, where no necessity exists for such an usurpation. The individual citizen, who has committed no offense, and against whom no charge can be alleged, will not be torn from his family and friends to languish in a dungeon or suffer exile from his home and country. The infamous and degrading system of espionage, carried on by hired spies and informers, will be abolished. No field for the wreaking of private malice, through the agency of this detested class of vagabonds, will longer be afforded. The vile corruptions in office at Washington City and elsewhere will cease, and a system of wise and prudent economy take the place of lavish waste and extravagance. A sound financial system will supply the place of the present worthless paper money and national bank policy. Inflated prices will give place to reasonable rates, and honest labor everywhere its just reward. Above all, the national dignity, so shamefully disregarded by the present party in power, will be retrieved, respected and protected.

All these important results are implied from the sentiments of Gen. McClellan's letter of acceptance; and if they do not come fully up to what many expected from him, they at least promise something better than can be hoped from a continuance of Mr. Lincoln in power.

C. L. Vallandigham refuses to speak for McClellan.

The following brief announcement of Mr. Vallandigham's withdrawal of his appointments to speak for McClellan, appeared in the Columbus Statesman of Saturday last: "The appointments heretofore made for the Hon. C. L. Vallandigham are withdrawn." JOHN G. THOMPSON, Chairman, Dem. State Central Com. Mr. Vallandigham is seen as on his way to Pennsylvania to meet his appointments, when McClellan's letter of acceptance was handed him, and so disappointed was he, McClellan's nomination having been made unanimous upon his motion, that he instantly recalled his appointments and retracted his steps.

We have seen and conversed with gentlemen who were in attendance upon the Chicago Convention, and they corroborate the statement of the newspapers, that the crowd of democrats present, was between two and three hundred thousand.

"We are coming father Abraham."

Lincoln's Office Holders against McClellan.

Since Lincoln's advent to office, the patronage of the Federal government has swollen to an almost incalculable extent. Some of the increase has been made necessary by the real exigencies of the country, but a vast portion of it, instead of being required by any legitimate wants of the nation, is a curse to the people and an outrage upon their rights and liberties. The swarm of spies and informers, known as secret police detectives, who infest every nook and corner of the land, are an intolerable nuisance, and are as much out of place in a free republican government, as thieves and pickpockets would be in the paradise of God. Yet, as part of the machinery by which Mr. Lincoln hopes "to conquer a peace," he has introduced into his service, and keeps in the pay of the government, an army of mercenaries, whose duty it is to mouse around among the people, watch their words and lightest actions, and make report of whatever may in the judgment of these low flung scoundrels, seem like disloyalty, that the offending party may be sent to prison or exiled from his country. The world over, men who act in such a capacity are justly held in utter contempt and detestation. How many such men Lincoln has in his employment we have no means of knowing, and we doubt very much whether any officer of the government is well enough informed to make an estimate of the number.

There are in the loyal States, one hundred and seventy-eight Congressional Districts, and in each one of these the revenue laws require a collector and an assessor. This alone makes three hundred and fifty-six. But in each district there is probably an average of ten counties, and in each county there are a deputy collector and a deputy assessor, making the aggregate of officers required by the revenue laws, and engaged in assessing and collecting the enormous taxes which now oppress and burden the people, thirty-eight hundred and fifty. In each district there is also a Provost Marshal and a board of enrollment, and in each county Deputy Provost Marshals and two enrolling officers, making in this branch of the service, an aggregate equally as large. When we add to these the number of Clerks and other small fry, necessary to the business of collecting the taxes, and enforcing the draft, the number will be increased to a very respectable sized army. But these are the officers employed only in two branches of the public service. They are a new class of employees unknown to the public services, until Mr. Lincoln became President, and perhaps do not constitute more than half the number who have been added to the service during the present administration. If a full list of all new offices created by this administration, could be exhibited to the public, it would produce a startling effect. We refer to this matter, that the patriotic people who are determined upon a change of rulers, may have some idea of the formidable and well organized phalanx of office-holders, by whom they will be opposed, and who are dependent for their future bread upon the success of Mr. Lincoln.

At Malvern Hill and Antietam Little Mac scattered far more formidable foes. In November he will be equally triumphant over the army of office-holders.

The Negro Troops.

Several of the Kentucky newspapers have noticed with much commendation, the conduct of the negro troops at various points in the State where they have had encampments. Their deportment at all places where they have been stationed, has been spoken of much to their credit, as quiet, and peaceful, showing a fine state of subordination and discipline. We can unite our testimony to this general commendation of the negro troops. We had for sometime a negro regiment stationed at this place, composed of the most uniformly black set a human beings we have ever seen, and so perfectly quiet and well behaved were they, that during their whole stay we never heard a single complaint against them. They were polite and respectful at all times to the citizens and so demeaned themselves as to relieve, if possible, the thing of having negro soldiers in our army, of much of its odium. Negroes have been accustomed all their lives to obedience, and hence they carry into the army their habits of subordination.

One striking fact was observable in the regiment of negroes at this place. Almost every one of them was as black as the ace of spades, showing undoubtedly a genuine, uncorrupted descent from the Guineaman. They exhibited no degrading marks of miscegenation. In the Regiments from the Northern States, and especially those states where slavery once existed pretty extensively, no such peculiarity is seen; but the very reverse is the case—they are nearly all mulattoes.

JESSIE NOT CAPTURED.—The Louisville Democrat of the 12th inst. says: "We learn there is no truth in the reported capture of Jessie and his men. The only men who were reported captured were five men who deliberately deserted Jessie's command and gave themselves up to the Federal authorities. If they have been captured we have never been able to learn what was done with them."

Large numbers of miners are returning from Idaho to California. They say they can't live there.

Conference of M. E. Church.

The Kentucky Annual Conference of the M. E. Church, South, closed its Session on Monday night at 10 o'clock, having convened here Wednesday previous. Some fifty were in attendance, some twenty absent from legitimate causes. Bishop Kavanaugh not having returned from California, Rev. Jno. C. Harrison one of the oldest, and most talented members of the Conference presided, to the entire satisfaction of the Conference and the large audience who attended every day of the session. A very large number of the laity of Kentucky were in attendance, showing great interest in the proceedings. From the action of some congregations and the agitated state of the country, there was some uneasiness in regard to the action of the Conference. The Conference appointed an able committee of 11 on the "State of the Church," who reported a dignified conservative report, and it was passed unanimously and concurred in by the large audience present. Those who take any interest in these resolutions will find them in the published minutes. The Conference passed resolutions of thanks for the hospitable manner they had been entertained by the Citizens, and to the Pastors and Trustees of the various Churches, who invited them to fill their pulpits to wit: Baptist, Presbyterian, M. E. Church and Christian Church. All the Ministers unite in saying, it was a most harmonious and pleasant session. Before the reading of the appointments, the President made a most impressive address to the Ministers and audience.

McClellan Meeting.

HARRISON TAYLOR, Esq., made an animated speech at the Court House, on Monday, in support of McClellan and Pendleton, the democratic nominees for President and Vice President. We are happy to learn that he did the democratic party the justice to say that it is now the only national party in the country. We always thought that when the party with which Mr. Taylor has all his life been associated, had worked out their logical consequences, the positions they have heretofore occupied, the thick scales would fall from the eyes of such as he. A day of awakening has come to him, as well as many others, and justice, though tardy, will now be done to the Democratic party. JOSEPH M. ALEXANDER, Esq., who is also an elector for this district, and a delegate to the late Chicago Convention, was present, but for some reason did not speak.

Gov. Bramlette's Proclamation.

The following proclamation of Gov. Bramlette, most commend itself to the approval of every right thinking man in the State.—The high handed measure of Gen. Ewing, as the Governor well says, is not authorized by "any known law civil or military," and we are glad to see it thus promptly rebuked: PROCLAMATION.

COMMONWEALTH OF KENTUCKY, EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, FRANKFORT, Sept. 5, 1864. My attention having been called to an order (No. 20) of Brigadier Gen. Hugh Ewing in the words and figures following, viz: "HEADQUARTERS SECOND DIVISION, DISTRICT OF KENTUCKY, LOUISVILLE, August 29, 1864.

"The Judge of the Quarterly Court, in each county of the district, is required to call together the judges composing the County Court within ten days after the receipt of this order, and, when assembled, said court shall levy upon the tax-payers of said county a sum sufficient to pay, mount and pay fifty (50) men, to be raised within said county, and maintained until further order. After being organized, the Captain will report to these headquarters his preparation for duty. The Captain, whose duty it shall be to organize the troops, will be appointed by the court, subject to the approval of the Circuit Judge, if he can be conveniently consulted, and will hold office until the company see fit to elect a successor. "By command of Brigadier General Hugh Ewing. [Signed] "E. B. HARLAN, "Lieut. and A. A. G."

I, as the Chief Executive of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, do hereby warn the judges and justices of the several courts embraced in said order that Brigadier General Hugh Ewing has no power or authority under any known law, civil or military, to assume control of the official action of the civil officers of this Commonwealth; and I further declare the said order to be in derogation of the laws of the State, and in conflict with the rights and liberties of a loyal people. You are hereby ordered, without delay, to obey the order without violating the laws which you are sworn to maintain, and prostituting the civil powers with which you are intrusted to unlawful and oppressive uses, thereby subjecting yourselves to the just penalties denounced by law against malefactors of office. It is the duty each owes to himself and to his country to refuse obedience to such orders, or immediately resign and let the office be filled by some one who will fearlessly meet the responsibilities of duty by refusing obedience to orders which alike violate the laws of the land, the duties of the officer and the rights of the citizen. You are therefore hereby warned against making any such levy of taxes and forbidden to do so. THOS. E. BRAMLETTE.

By the Governor, E. L. VAN WINKLE, Secy of State. By Jas. R. PAGE, Assistant Secretary.

The CHARLES D. KIRK, referred to below, is a native of this place where he has many relatives, and is well known to our citizens: "SE DE KAY."—Many of our citizens will remember Charles D. Kirk, who resided in this city about three years ago. Soon after the rebellion broke out he joined the rebel army under Buckner, we believe, and was with that portion of the rebel army which first occupied Harper's Ferry. A contemporary makes the following mention of the gentleman: "Charles D. Kirk, the well known 'Se De Kay,' correspondent of the Louisville Courier, after an imprisonment of fifteen months in a Federal prison at Cincinnati, made his escape a few days ago and now enjoys the freedom of Canada. Kirk joined the rebel army, fought on many fields in Virginia, and was made a prisoner in Woodford county, Kentucky. He was thrown into prison, and, a few days ago, being called into the courtroom to give his evidence in relation to some affair, he embraced a favorable opportunity and procured his liberty. He is now at Kingston, Canada."—Lafayette (La.) Journal.

PAYNE'S EXERCISES IN CASEVILLE AND VICINITY.—Citizens from Caseyville inform us, that while Payne's command was in their town, they went into Peter Acker's grocery and rolled out all his liquors, when they knocked in the heads of some 15 bbls, and half-bbls, spilling all their contents in the street. They then took hold of Mr. A. and tying his hands together, they hung him up until he fainted. His brother then re-monstrated at this inhuman conduct, when a strapping negro thrust his bayonet two inches into his shoulder. They crowded into Dr. Pittman's drugstore, and smashed and destroyed a large portion of his medicines. Dr. Davis' place, 5 miles from town was visited and stripped of all his horses, cattle, &c. Mrs. Pele who keeps a hotel at the Shawneetown Ferry, was visited by these troops, who plundered her of horses, corn, &c. John Hammock's house was entered, all the bedding and clothing of his wife and children placed in the middle of the floor and fired.—Mr. H. barely succeeded in saving the house at the risk of his life. Mrs. Metcalfe's farm; 2 1/2 miles from Caseyville, was swept clean of all her cattle, horses, gear, &c. Mr. D. O. Conn, a worthy and enterprising citizen, who has control of the Curlew Mines, who had a store there, was plundered of all his stock of goods, and himself carried off a prisoner. Of course a miscellaneous negro-stealing was going on all the time.

Morgan to have been Court Martialled. Gen. John H. Morgan has been relieved of the command of the Department of Southwestern Virginia, and he is to be court-martialed for going into Kentucky last spring without orders of General Bragg.—All soldiers are subject to the orders of their superiors, and may be court-martialed for acting without orders or disobeying them. Against this we have nothing to say. But we do say, without fear of contradiction, that in invading Kentucky Morgan done the only thing that could have been done at the time to save South-western Virginia, from ravage by Burbridge and his six thousand raiders. General John; Echels succeeds General Morgan in the command of Southwestern Virginia. Satan's Address to the Fallen Angels.—Nicks come around.

The Song of the Raven.
A raven sat on a blood-stained stone
And pecked away at a fleshless bone,
Singing his song in a raven's tone,
That echoed wild as a spirit's moan—
War! War! War!

Then he flapped his wings and hopped around
To form the ground of the dreadful fray,
In search of a more nutritious prey,
Still shouting aloud his ominous lay—
War! War! War!

Still flapping his wings he hopped around
To a form stretched on the ground,
A human frame on an ancient mound,
Still shouting aloud the doleful sound—
War! War! War!

Then lightning there on the hero's breast,
Where a form of beauty once found rest—
Where a fond affection was ever blest—
He cried as he plumed his raven crest—
War! War! War!

Soon the mouldering flesh was torn apart
With a raven's skill and a raven's art,
Till the evil bird had reached the heart,
Crying again with an angry start—
War! War! War!

The heart that had once so proudly beat
In the quiet home or busy street,
With its hopes of life, was a raven's meat,
Mixed with the song with the morsel sweet—
War! War! War!

When the red moon lighted up the east,
The bird of song prolonged his feast,
With his idle time from Satan leas'd,
And hoarsely croaked like a savage beast—
War! War! War!

And with fiendish pride he sank his beak,
Tearing the flesh from the manly cheek,
Swallowing still each quivering shriek,
Whilst the echoes catch his angry shriek—
War! War! War!

Then he lifts his head of the blackest dye,
The blood-stained beak strikes the hero's eye,
And in echoes reaching to the sky
Still hoarsely comes the raven's cry—
War! War! War!

That cheek, that eye so kindly smiled
With a loving trust so pure and mild,
To bless perhaps, a wife or child,
Was food for the bird that sang so wild—
War! War! War!

ORIGIN OF MULES IN THE UNITED STATES.—Up to the year 1773 there were scarcely any mules to be found in the United States; those few had been imported from the West Indies, and were of a very inferior order. When Washington returned to private life at Mount Vernon, he became convinced that mules would be better adapted for use in the agriculture of the Southern States, as they lived longer, were less liable to disease, require less food, and were more economical than horses. On his views, becoming known to the King of Spain, he sent him a Jack and two Jennies. The Jack was sixteen hands high, of a gray color, heavily made, and of sluggish disposition. About the same time he also received a Jack and some Jennies from Lafayette, which were procured on the island of Malta. These proved more energetic and active. By crossing the breed, Washington availed himself of the best qualities of the two, and thus introduced excellent mules for farming labor into this country. Such was their superiority, that at the sale of the General's effects, one wagon team of four mules sold for $800. At this day these animals are extensively used in the Southern and Middle States.

DR. JOHN BULL'S
COMPOUND CEDRON BITTERS!

The Latest and Most Important Discovery of the Nineteenth Century.

NO MAN'S NAME IS MORE INTIMATELY connected with the history of the Materia Medica of the United States, or more favorably known as a pioneer in medical discovery, than that of JOHN BULL, of Louisville, Ky. His inimitable preparation of Sassaaparilla has long stood at the head of the various compounds of that valuable drug. His compound Pectoral or Wild Cherry has become a household word throughout the West and South; and his Worm Lozenges, in less than a year after their introduction, attained a reputation as widespread as the continent of North America. But the crowning glory of his life remains to be told in the latest discovery, or rather combination, for he does not claim to have been the discoverer of CEDRON, which is the basis of the Bitters now offered to the public. That honor belongs to the native inhabitants of Central America, to whom its virtues have been known for more than two hundred years. Armed with it, the Indian bids defiance to the most deadly malaria, and handles without fear the most venomous serpents. It is a belief with them that while there is breath left in the body the Cedron is potent to cure, no matter what the disease may be.

While Dr. Bull is not prepared to indorse this extravagant pretension, he is nevertheless satisfied from a thorough examination of the evidence relating to its virtues, that as a remedy and preventive for all diseases arising from exposure either to changes of weather and climate or to the miasmatic influences, it stands without a rival, and justly deserves the reputation it has so long enjoyed in Central America and the West Indies.

DYSPEPSIA
and its attendant train of symptoms, it acts more like a charm than a medicine. There is nothing in the whole range of the Materia Medica that can for a moment bear a comparison with it in this disease.
A full account of this wonderful plant may be found in the eleventh edition of the U. S. Dis-pensatory, pages 1587 and 1588.

A series of experiments, in which Dr. Bull has been for years engaged, has just been completed, and the result is a most successful remedy, and he is now enabled to offer to the public a combination of Cedron with other improved tones, the whole preserved in the best quality of copper-distilled Bourbon whisky, which he is confident has no equal in the world.

He might furnish a volume of certificates, but the public have long since learned to estimate such things at their true value. The safest plan is for every one to test for himself the virtues of a new medicine. Give the Cedron Bitters
one trial, and you will never use any others.

It is not necessary to publish a long list of diseases for which the Cedron Bitters are a specific,
as the diseases of the STOMACH, BOWELS,
KIDNEYS, or LIVER;
In all affections of the BRAIN depending upon derangement of the Stomach or Bowels;
In GOUT, RHEUMATISM, and NEURALGIA;
AND IN EVERY AGUE;
It is destined to supersede all other remedies.
It not only cures all these diseases but it prevents them.

A full glass full of the Bitters taken an hour before each meal will obviate the ill effects of the most unhealthy climate and screen the person taking it against disease under the most trying exposure.
